Also contact: Civil Rights Office, U.S. Department of Education, 8F, 5 Post Office Square, Boston, MA 02109-3921, Tel: 617-289-0111, Fax: 617-289-0150; TDD: 877-521-2172 E-mail: OCR. Boston@ed.gov, file an electronic complaint: Harassment is not limited to prohibited acts by teachers against women or non-supervisor employees or students. The victim does not have to be the opposite sex of harassment. Harassment can be from students, students, students to students, from students to teachers, from teachers to teachers. The gender of the filer or the harasser is irrelevant, even if they are of the same gender. Sexual orientation and sexual harassment based on sex equivality are also prohibited under state law. Follow these steps: Take action and get help when you need it. Ignoring sexual harassment is not an effective way to stop it. Whenever possible, communicate verbally to the harasser or in writing what is the specific action you feel uncomfortable with. Ask him or her to stop. Report unpleasant behavior to teachers, counselors, Title IX coordinators, or school administrators. Keep a detailed record of harassment to share with school officials to investigate your complaint. If you are not satisfied with resolving your concerns, please contact one of the appropriate organizations listed. The victim does not have to be the person who is instructed to have unfavorable sexual activity. Victims are turned to others, but may be witnesses of such conduct and personally angry people. Sexual harassment is an undesirable act that is personally offensive, degrades morale, and interferes with educational performance. This undesirable sexual behavior is defined from the victim's point of view, not harassment.
